i have 5000 members and they want to add questions. if users can add question to question bank or prepare new quiz to other user it will be perfect.

and if any user can't answer a question they have to asnwer same question again after 4 questions. this feature for one question per page style but it will be very good for learning.
Thank you.

It is possible to use ACL rules to grant permissions for users from selected user groups add questions to specific quiz (to quizzes from specific quiz category and etc.) on component backend.
