Summarize Result Statistics by Question Category

Posted by svetlana13 - 2009/01/14 22:00

The problem is that currently I cannot separate the result statistics for my quizzes by Question Category. I.e. the results only tell the student how many questions they got right in total, but not in each Question Category (the goal is to see their strengths and weaknesses, i.e. in which topic areas they score better than others).

Could you please allow for categorization of the result statistics, for example like this:

Total CFA Sample Test Result 35/45

Ethics 4/5 (80%)
Quantitative Methods 2/5 (40%)
Economics 0/5 (0%)
Fixed Income 5/5 (100%)
etc...

Thank you,
Svetlana Minina

We too need to be able summarise our results by category. I can register on the front of our site and this will allow you to take a quiz at the front we have 40 randomised questions using the single answer type.

Whilst we want the questions to be randomly asked, we want to show the results in category order.

If you need further access please email us.

Thanks

Hi there,

I need this functionality too. Really important for me to be able to split results by category.

Please advise.

Many thanks.

Hello,

ARI Quiz doesn't support this functionality. You can submit feature request and we'll implement it in one of the future releases or you can order custom development.

We can't say exactly date when we can release 'ARI Quiz' with this functionality because now we have many other features for implementing in the following releases. We can add it within couple months.

OK, that's good to know. And if I were to commission you for custom development of this feature - I assume you've done this for other customers. Could you please PM me with a quote? Is that possible?

Many thanks.
