
No access to code--license delay??

Posted by agent314 - 2009/10/08 18:43

Also sent this as email:

Hi Folks...

Not sure what the delay in the license is about... We've paid for the application and the source code on all the files still says "eval(base64_decode('IGRIZmlu..."))"

I'm looking for the CSS files, etc to do some styling and cannot find any... It looks like we have a temporary license... We would like to get this resolved asap as we are on a very tight deadline with this project and not used to being held up like this... Can you please advise? Appreciate it...

Thanks,

Jeff

Re:No access to code--license delay??

Posted by admin - 2009/10/09 00:51

Hello,

You can read about licenses in our F.A.Q. section 4. About source code, the component isn't under GNU GPL license, it's under ARI Soft license and core files are obfuscated. You can find plugins for the component under GPL license in plugins repository. The component installs plugins to /plugins/content/arismartcontent/ folder for Joomla! 1.5 and to /mambots/content/arismartcontent/ for Joomla! 1.0, this folder contains sub-folder for each plugin where you can find CSS files. You can use CSS template (CSS Templates section on the component backend) for overriding CSS rules.

Regards,
ARI Soft

Re:No access to code--license delay??

Posted by agent314 - 2009/10/09 00:58

Alright... thanks for the response... that's reasonable for $25. Most people want something for nothing. Good luck.

Re:No access to code--license delay??

Posted by admin - 2009/10/09 01:06

We don't want something for nothing. We provide high quality component with a lot of addons, whose number is constantly growing.. We also provide premium support for all our components.

Regards,
ARI Soft

Re:No access to code--license delay??

Posted by agent314 - 2009/10/09 01:10

You misunderstood... I was not talking about you... I was referring to others who moan about paying for extensions... you are doing fine...

Jeff

=====

Re:No access to code--license delay??

Posted by admin - 2009/10/09 01:22

Oh, sorry for misunderstanding, morning affects :)

Regards,
ARI Soft

=====

Re:No access to code--license delay??

Posted by agent314 - 2009/10/09 01:32

No worries... time for bed in California... thanks again...

Jeff

=====