Smart Content or Data Tables

If my focus is tables and charts, what is the differentiation between Smart Content and Data Tables?

I got the idea that whereas Data Tables requires me to have a module instance per table, the Smart Content table is inserted directly inline into the article and drawn with a plugin. Is this the case?

Hello,

It is correct, "ARI Smart Content" contains a pack of plugins, "ARI Data Tables" is used as a module, but "ARI Data Tables" contains "ARI GChart" widget which is currently is not supported by "ARI Smart Content" and "ARI Data Table" widget from "ARI Data Tables" extension provides more features than "ARI JDataTable" plugin from "ARI Smart Content".
