ARIJTABVIEW Reload Problem

Posted by mniederm - 2009/01/21 22:13

Hi,

I use ARIJTABVIEW with two tabs.
On both tabs I have hrefs which call some php functions on the site. Then the site is reloaded. How can I make solve it, that I come back to the tab where the user pressed the href? Do you have a solution for this?

href looks like this:
merken

Would be great if you could help me.
thx Michael

Hi,

this is only for registered users who are logged in. But when you have a look on the page http://www.aktionsfinder.at/aktionsfinder/brot-a-gebaeck.html, there will be a button on the end of every row on the firs taband a button on every div on the second tab. When the button on the secod tab is pressed a php functions writes some information on the DB and the side reloades, because the button changes. And when this reload happens I want that the users comes to the second tab when he pressed the button on the second tab.

thx Michael

Currently this ability is not implemented. But you can submit feature request and we can add new property for saving last active tab to cookie and read it after reload.
