Hello,
I have a problem with showing sub-menu in right to left and horizontal showing.
in fact the sub-menus didn't be shown just under its parent (its showing tends to left-bottom of its parent)
I appreciated if anybody help me about that.

*also 2 attachments were added: (site, and its settings)

Dear sir;
Thanks again for reply soon but I think I explain my problem in simple and bright sentences; also this is default setting (and i didn't make any changes in the parameters setting). if you aren't sure about that, please test you module in a newly installed  Joomla CMS, (as I tested it). Excuse me but I think this is a General question, and it isn't an specific case, (in fact each others might have the same problem).

How ever if i was sure that addressing could solve the problem i do but unfortunately my site isn't up! I think you certainly know that so many people may use this module but they haven't online site (site doesn't up in internet). So what would be done with them?!
excuse me but this problem is serious, please check, and i would be appreciated to showing a solution:
I use Joomla 1.5.23
Regards

If you can't provide link to page where we can see the problem, send page files of the page with the menu by email. This process is described here.

Dear Admin, Thanks for paying attention, just in horizontal mode, using IE 7 the sub-menu doesn't show just the bottom of each parent's one. in fact the sub-menu tend to show at the bottom-right instead of just bottom of each parent's menu.

please check the site again using IE 7: in second item of Horizontal menu (from the right), "Joomla Overview"'s sub-menu tend to bottom-right (instead of just bottom).

You have added incorrect custom CSS rules:

.yui-skin-sam .yuimenu .yuimenu
 right: 0 !important;
 margin-right: 100%;
.yui-skin-sam .yuimenu .yuimenuitem
{
 zoom: 1;
}
```

It should be:

```
.yui-skin-sam .yuimenu .yuimenu
 right: 0 !important;
 margin-right: 100%;
.yui-skin-sam .yuimenu .yuimenuitem
{
 zoom: 1;
}
```

Dear Admin;
you are completely right; Excuse-me for kidding mistake, maybe excitement was caused that!  :blush:
but unfortunately seems that this correction couldn't get it right! and the problem already exist using IE 7.
I change the code like bellow:

.yui-skin-sam .yuimenu .yuimenuitem
{
 position: relative;
}
.yui-skin-sam .yuimenu .yuimenu
 right: 0 !important;
 margin-right: 100%;
}
.yui-skin-sam .yuimenu .yuimenuitem
{
 zoom: 1;
}
```

how ever i try just the second and third block (like bellow):

```
.yui-skin-sam .yuimenu .yuimenu
 right: 0 !important;
 margin-right: 100%;
}
.yui-skin-sam .yuimenu .yuimenuitem
{
 zoom: 1;
}

unfortunately no one took effect!
I try to write the code carefully once again and review it three time; you may want to trace my code, how ever I hope there would be existed a solution to solve that.
You could use again the link bellow to visit it using IE 7. all the Horizontal sub-menu' alignment don't take effect (like the pics in my last posts)

Thanks, Regards.

Try to add the next CSS rules:

```
.yui-skin-sam .yuimenubar .yuimenubaritem
{
 position: relative !important;

.yui-skin-sam .yuimenubar .yuimenu
{
 right: 0 !important;
}
```

Dear Admin,
Finally DONE!
Congratulation! and lets say Thank you purely;
without your trying and useful code, I couldn't success to make its alignment right. in fact you did it :cheer:
Thanks again
