
Drop Downs Disappear

Posted by 4ronharris - 2013/07/23 03:29

Hey, I love your menus, but I have a site that has a lot of menu items and if I have more than one line of menu items stacked, then the drop downs on the higher rows only show the items, but if you try to drill down to the child menus, the lower row hover property kicks in and the child menus are not accessible...

See this issue at www.Calderone-golf-club.com

Let me know if there is a setting that I can use to change this behavior...

Thanks

Hello,

Add the following CSS rule to "CSS Styles" parameter in module settings:

```
#ariyui90 UL LI A {
  margin-top: 0 !important;

Thank-you so much, I really appreciate it as I am not a CSS expert.

One more thing on my wish list is to be able to add a picture to the menu background and then when someone hovers over it to change the picture to another picture.

I tried to find the CSS sheet for the module, but could not do so.

Do you have a simple CSS I could paste into that CSS text box area that would do this. And if so, what where should I store such an image? And is Jpeg format ok?

Thanks again, and keep up all this great work.

Ron

Information about menu HTML layout and CSS classes can be found here. You can use it to customize menu.
