Hi ARI,

Thank you very much for a nice Joomla module!!

However I currently can't figure out, how to center the module at the top of my site.

The site is Sorring Fitness

And I forgot:

When the submenus exceeds the height of the banner, they disappear behind the centerframe.
How do I make them appear in the front rather than behind?

Hello,

Add the next CSS rule to center the menu:

#header div.ux-menu-container ul.ux-menu
 width: auto;
 right: inherit;
 margin: 0 auto;
 left: 45px
}

Sub-menu indicator image is located by the next path:

/modules/mod_ariextmenu/mod_ariextmenu/js/css/images/menu-arrow-down.png

About the last proble, what browser do you use?

Regards,
ARI Soft

Thanks a lot! :)

That did the trick!

Is it possible to make the module auto width, so it always fits the width of the site?

I'm testing on IE8, IE9 and Chrome.

Sorry, but it is not possible to fill all available space automatically.

About problem with banner, we can't reproduce this problem. Could you provide a screenshot where we can see it?

I've added 5 menuitems sub the 'HJEM' menu. Only three of those are visible, as the rest seems to dissapear behind the banner.

No screenshot - try for yourself :)

Add the next CSS rules:

body #header
 overflow: visible;

body #header #header-image
 overflow: hidden;

That did the trick! Thank you!!

I believe I searched the forum for solutions, but all the posted codes I found, didn't do the trick on my site!

But thank you! :) (You've gained karma!)

Hi Support,
I tried the code in this thread to centre my menu also but it failed. I have the menu module in the custom HTML module using "module anywhere from NONumbers and would like to centre the entire module, can you help?

Joomla version 2.5 up to date
Link to site http://www.regenervite.com/index.php/en/

Thankyou,

Brian
PS best module extension I have found so far not to simple and not to complex.

Hello,

Use the following CSS rule to remove borders around menu items:

UL.ux-menu A {border-style:none!important;}

You can read here how to change menu items width.

Thanks admin! But how can I center ari menu?
I have find the solution, but it is not good decision (The menu is not exactly at the center):

.ux-menu-container {
    position: relative;
    width: 550px;
    margin: auto;
}

And then I add one more menu, addition menu have differrent size then previous and not centered

Remove your CSS rule and add the following CSS rules:

.ux-menu-container {text-align:center;}
.ux-menu {display:inline-block;}

Thanks! Previously I have tried to do this as a CSS rule in module parameters, but it does not work without removing additional css rules in menu.min.css

Thanks!
