
Joomla 3.3 Menu CSS Not Loading?

Posted by jimbrooking - 2014/12/09 21:59

On my under-construction Joomla 3.3 site, <http://j3.fearringtonfha.org>, the CSS for the drop-down menus doesn't seem to be loading properly when the home page loads. This menu is at the top of the screen, if you look at it. When on one of the drop-down linked pages, the menu set-up looks OK, but back on the home page it's not right.

Is there an ordering issue or what?

Thanks,
Jim

Hello,

Could you send an image where we can see the problem with the menu and specify what browser you use?

Thanks for your attention. I see the problem only on Chrome. Firefox and MSIE do not exhibit the problem:

I will post an image of what the same drop-down ("News") should look like on another entry as I don't see a way to include a second one here.

I don't know if it is related but I see I am getting an error, apparently from Mootools, in all browsers on an onmouseout event. MSIE seems to offer the clearest console error message. See image:

Javascript error occurs because module instance with ID = 119 doesn't contain menu items.

Thanks. I have trashed that module and emptied the trash, so it is no longer a factor. An error message in MSIE remains, bit appears to be a different error:

And the CSS problem remains in Chrome.

Your site template contains an incorrect HTML code. For example the following code:

Punctuation will be the death of me. I did fix that, still getting an error, and Chrome CSS remains broken.

MSIE error now:
