When i try to select an item from the menu, (i used simple article mode) the page freezes and it wont work. It telss me to stop the script. Here is the site where im using it:

http://www.carnesviba.com/cgi-bin/testjoomla/negocios/index.php?option=com\_content&view=article&id=9&Itemid=12

You have to click in the back of the cow, where it reads pulpa to get to the ARI Slider module.

I've already tried deactivating the other modules using jquery and using jquery no conflict mode.

I appreciate you could help.

Thanks in advance!

Hello,

Does the slider work now?

Regards,
ARI Soft

It was because the module was inside a table with display:none; property, and it was activated when selecting a part of the cow. I discovered that when the table was in display:block from the begining the module loaded ok.
