Images not showing in slider

Everything has been working fine until this week. Now for some reason, when I add new images for the slideshow the code on the front page does not update to show the new images. We are loading jQuery locally, I have flushed caches on the server and cleared caches in the browser. We have always been able to just put images in the "/images/rotate/" directory. We would name them "slide-a-anyidentifier.gif" and "slide-b-anyidentifier.gif" etc. and they would just show up. This week, we did the same thing and no images would appear, when we looked at the source code for the page, the names of the images for last week still are showing. Because we have several visitors to the site, we changed the names of 2 of the 4 images to what they were last week and those images are showing. The URL of the site is <http://kcjc.com>. Can you help us figure out why your ARI image Slider is not updating the code on the front page?

Hello,

/images/rotate folder contains only two images:

slide-a-levine.gif
slide-b-balloons.gif

List of files is here and these images are shown into the slider on your site. What's wrong?

If the files are named anything other than the current names, they do not show up. There are 3 images there now and the third image is not showing.

Please disregard. I am guessing there was something to do with a cache somewhere. All appears to work now.
