
Overwriting default template style

Posted by parm23 - 2011/02/12 10:25

After enabling "System - ARI Sexy Lightbox Anywhere" plugin my template is messing up. It is overwriting tags and default classes for sub menus. If I will disable back then it will start showing default styles again.

So I really can't use plugin. :(

Is anyone else has this issue?

Thanks,
Parm

hallo

I have the same problem (see attachments).

I tried changing JQuery settings, but no success.

The fact is that I purchased arisexylightbox mostly to have an easy way to show articles in a popup and ari_anywhere could be a good solution.

May I have some help to solve?

thanks

to Admin:

I created an account for you with super-user permissions, going to send it by email, so you can enter administration and enable the plugin when you have the opportunity: I cannot leave my site with the plugin enabled for long. Please let me know, thanks to parm23:

thanks, I know that plugin works good, but when you want to link an article and show it in a popup you have to: insert the full path of the article, so when moving or cloning the site it'd be necessary to update all pathes add ".tmpl=component" to all href

I like anywhere plugin because you can refer to article by ID.

bye & good work

now it's fine thanks, but there is another problem:
I put the right article ID (tried with several anyway) and the popup shows Error 404.
Please note I'm using SEF.
Can you give a solution? Your account is still active.
thanks
