Sexy Light box Navigation from ari flipbook

Posted by antigeek - 2011/04/20 02:49

Im trying to get navigation to work with the sexylightbox plugin and the ARI flipbook moduleI have a flipbook setup to show larger versions of pages in a lightbox

However the navigation only goes backwards then if you click forward it goes to a blog link (unrelated) that I got you guys to setup using css selectors and sexy links

I just want it to go through the pages within the correct flipbook category (only) in the right order....are you able to tell me where ive gone wrong?

I have also sent through an email with further details

Any Help greatly appreciated

*edit

Ahh ok so I just need to add a groupName="xx" to whatever I want to show in a grouping...

SO EASY!! sorry to waste your time...I just didnt get it....damn these extensions are good!

you can set this to solved! Thank you so so much you guys are the best!!!!!!

Hello,

Try now please. Several jQuery javascript library instances were loaded on your site and they conflicted.

Um I think you might have misunderstood the issue

That hasnt fixed the problem...in fact its made functions on other pages break .
Can we please revert to how it was before.

The issue isn't with the flipbook (I dont want navigation on the flipbook) but with the navigation on the lightbox (the previous and next page buttons on the lightbox window).

This can be seen if you click on a page in the flipbook (it opens a larger version of the page in a lightbox)
However on the first page of the flipbook you can only see the "previous" button there is no next...If you click previous it goes back to the last page, however if you click again it just shows the same page...if you click next from here it opens the blog popup (which it shouldnt at all).

THe other scripts loaded are using no conflict mode and everything apart from lightbox navigation was working fine before so can we please revert back to how it was....Then can I get you to take a look at what the LIGHTBOX navigation is doing

Ive attached an image to illustrate what im talking about

Kind Regards

We have reverted back our changes. Set "groupName" attribute of {arisexylightbox} tag with the same name for items which should be navigated in the lightbox with help "Next" and "Prev" buttons. We have set it for "Best Australian Gardens and Landscapes 01" and "Best Australian Gardens and Landscapes 02" articles.

Thank you so much and sorry for the confusion earlier!

Ok this is getting there....but Im not sure I follow though. How/where do you set this in the tag or in the module itself?

Basically I want to be able to go through the whole book both with the flipbook or in the lightbox.
So in otherwords it needs to go through that category the book is in and nothing else.

Are you able to explain in a little more detail.... I can see you have added groupName="garden" to the tag in the article but where do you set this up...or do I just add that to each article I want in the group to create the group?

sorry still a little confused

Yes, add "groupName" attribute to each article for flip book. The lightbox provides navigation buttons for items with the same group name.

Thanks.....

However I have just noticed that the "blog" link that you had setup for me (sexy links css selector thing)
see http://www.ari-soft.com/ARI-Sexy-Lightbox/11607-Menu-Item-LightBox-Link/Page-2.html

It's now stopped working on all the other pages except when looking at the flipbook.

Just wondering if something was not put back properly?

Sorry to be a pain....
