
Still can't get Ari Fancybox to work for me

Posted by alisamii - 2010/08/08 05:07

Hi:

I am still having trouble getting Ari Fancybox to work for me.

I am trying to load a custom_html module with the arifancybox plugin embedded up to 8 times in the module.

The code that I am using, for example, is:

Basically, the module is divided into 4 divs enclosed that are enclosed in another div.

Each of those 4 is set to a width of 25%, so the 4 divs together make up 100% of the enclosing div.

Inside each div is 3 basic containers:

1. an image (enclosed in the arifancybox plugin)
2. an heading
3. a text link (enclosed in the exact same arifancybox code as the image)

This is repeated up to 4 times in the same custom_html module.

The problem is, rather than having the plugin work as a plugin, it shows up as text.

Can you help me fix this?

I will send you the login and password to the site, as well as the link to the affected module, in an email.

Can you also please tell me what error I am making so that I don't need to ask you fix this issue 100 times (I will be using the plugin like this at least 100 times throughout the site). :ohmy:

Thanks.

Ali

Hello,

This problem occurred because 'Mode' parameter in 'System - ARI Fancybox Anywhere' plugin settings was set to 'Content'. In this case it will work only on Joomla! articles, we have changed it to 'Anywhere'.

Hi:

Thank you. I have a question regarding page loading time. I notice that the plugin seems to pre-load or cache the images from flickr, which is great, but it also means that the specific area where the links are located take a long time to load. Is there a way to force the page to load first, and once the page has loaded, for the plugin to begin to pre-load the flickr photosets?

Thank you.

Hello,

If a Flickr photoset contains a lot of photos and you want to load all of them on a page, it takes a lot of time because a browser will download all thumbnails when a user open page with Flickr photoset at first time. If you want to reduce loading time, you can use 'visibleItemCount' attribute and set how many thumbnails should be shown on a page. Other thumbnails will be available in the lightbox with help navigation buttons.

Hi:

I am not using any thumbnails from flickr. I am using single images on my server.

Here's an example of the code:

```
{arifancybox activeType="flickr" type="customtext" source="photoset" photosetId="72157624577601900"
apikey="166cd0f079225ba7aa06e3ec838f6e62"}
The Alborz Mountains
```

View the Gallery - 94 Photos

{/arifancybox}
{arifancybox activeType="flickr" type="customtext" source="photoset" photosetId="72157624568880138"
apikey="166cd0f079225ba7aa06e3ec838f6e62"}
The Caspian Sea
```

View the Gallery - 28 Photos

{/arifancybox}
{arifancybox activeType="flickr" type="customtext" source="photoset" photosetId="72157624540578208"
apikey="166cd0f079225ba7aa06e3ec838f6e62"}
Mount Damavand
```

View the Gallery - 131 Photos

{/arifancybox}
{arifancybox activeType="flickr" type="customtext" source="photoset" photosetId="72157624396297959"
apikey="166cd0f079225ba7aa06e3ec838f6e62"}
The Zagros Mountains
```

View the Gallery - 5 Photos

{/arifancybox}

This code is in a custom_html module, the name of which is Gallery 2.

The custom_html modules then are loaded in the Joomla! module JA Tabs.

The name of that module is tab-scroller.

I can load as many modules in that tab-scroller as I want.

So far, there are seven such galleries, and I will be adding more.
