
html content

Posted by erikedge - 2010/04/27 20:09

I have 3 light boxes set up in a table. Each light box has a different name but the content part of the last 2 boxes displays the the content of the first light box even though the content of the bottom boxes are different. I put in rel="sexylightbox" for all three so they would be in a group but that still did nothing. Any suggestions?

Go to www.frontlinemechanicalinc.com and click on the Residential Services button on the home page.

=====

Re:html content

Posted by admin - 2010/04/27 20:30

Hello,

It happens because you use the same "id" attribute for tags which contain inline content. In your case, you use "mySexyContent" as "id" attribute for all tags. Use different values for each "id" attribute of container tags for inline content and it will work correctly.

Regards,
ARI Soft

=====