Hello,

Add the next CSS rule:

BODY #top

{
  position: relative;
  z-index: 1;
}
```

Thanks!!!

I also solved adding

#ais_31_wrapper, #ais_31 {
  z-index:1;
}

to nivo-slider.css

but your solution is more elegant as i can put it into the same module.

Maybe sometime you should write a faq on this issue so people can determine what is the rule that works for each case.

thank you again, this is the best slideshow i've ever found.

Hello Administrator,

Could you please tell me where I can add the Code you're providing. Do I have to access mod_ariimageslider?

---

I tried adding the CSS rule on a few different places on the back-end of my template but no result (most likely because I am not completely sure what I am doing)

My site is www.wereldlampen.nl and as you can see the dropdown menu 'transport' isn't working properly when the slides start 'sliding'.

Thank you so much for your reply!

Hello,

This problem with site template styles. Add the next CSS rule to a site template CSS file to fix the problem:

#main-content
{
  position: relative;
  z-index: 1;
}
```

Hi

same happens in my case:
testURL

can i solve this using a module class suffix?
if i put z-index:1; in css .nivoSlider it's fixed but i don't want to use that solution for obvious reasons.

Thanks

Hello,

Add the following CSS rules:

#shadowbordertop
  z-index: 2;
  position: relative;
}
```

```
#xtc-holder
{
  z-index: 1;
```

```
position: relative;
}

Thank you very much for your unbelievably fast reply. Problem solved.
Out of curiosity how did you find this solution? i would like to learn how you approached this so i know how to do the same in the future. I use firebug but i don't understand how to do what you did.

Anyway i realize that you don't have to reply to these kind of questions so if you don't reply I'll understand, no problem :-)

Thanks again

I am having a similar issue. My website is comprised of eight different templates.
I did not build it this way, but I am having to come behind the person that did.
I am using your slider on my site (it's gorgeous!) but my main navigation bar is showing up behind the slider.
I am using the {loadposition xx} command to have the module show up in an article.
Can you take a look at this link and tell me what z index rule I need to put into this site, and where, for the menu to display correctly?

<http://wwwtest.mspark.com/2012-09-07-00-19-56>

Thanks in advance for your help!

hello, thanks for the great support.

i am using the trial version of ari slider and want to set the index for either the logo or the slider so that the logo floats on top of the slideshow - is that possible here: <http://69.64.52.150/lilgoats/> ?

thanks for any help - sorry if i posted in the wrong place. if i can get this resolved, and get approval from my client, i will purchase the full version of this great slider. the widgetkit one that came with my joomla template is not responsive or nice to work with!

Hello,

This modification is related to site template, not to the module. Contact your site template developer(s) so they modified template for your needs.

BTW, "ARI Image Slider" is a free module.

It seems i have the same problem on my site: <http://www.teichwirtschaft-koselitz.de/Joomla/>

I already added

#s5_top_row1
{
  position: relative;
  z-index: 1;
}

in the css styles section, but it doesn't help. :(

Could you please give an advice?
Thanks
