

---

Math impression display box in question

Posted by Jonte - 2014/07/08 21:12

---

Our math teachers would like to get a display box in question where student could see what they have wrote with Latex as a math impression. It could be named as Math Display Box or something like that. It could be activated as calculator.

So when there is a math question and student should write some Latex for the answer, Math Display Box would show in math impression what they have wrote. MathJax could be used for that.

=====