
Empty words in article - question type

Posted by Jonte - 2014/08/03 14:59

How about new question type, where you could insert a long text/article and take away some words from it. Then students would have to write those words direct to text.

So same as Free Text question type, but those sentences/words would have taken off direct from an article or another long text.

=====