Table formatting on page - conflict?

Posted by sbi - 2012/04/12 23:41

_____

Hi,

I have used a jdatatable plugin inside of the article here: (link)

It is inside the div "maincontent" and in the code appears directly below the heading "Events happening at this venue." However, it is appearing much lower on the page in the live view.

I feel like I must be overlooking some piece of css or other formatting that is causing this.

Help, please?

Thanks!

==

Re:Table formatting on page - conflict?

Posted by admin - 2012/04/13 06:13

_____

Hello,

It is a problem with site template styles. Try to add the next CSS rule to a site template CSS file:

```
.twoColFixRtHdr #mainContent
{
 overflow: hidden;
}
```

Regards,
ARI Soft

==

Re:Table formatting on page - conflict?

Posted by sbi - 2012/04/13 11:36

_____

Perfect! Fixed! Thank you.

==