
JavaScript Error when you \"double-sort\" a column

Posted by twarfield - 2010/07/17 20:45

Example:

<http://www.warfieldconsulting.com/jdata-table-test.html>

Click on the "url" column once, it sorts on that column. Click the same column header a second time, and it causes this JavaScript error:

Message: 'jQuery.fn.dataTableExt.oSort' is null or not an object

URI:

Also the "Processing..." message box stays on.

This is with the 'No conflict' parameter to 'Yes' in the 'ARI JQuery Loader' plugin.

This problem was reported earlier here but I didn't see any resolution for it.

Nevermind - I found the problem (I was loading JQuery twice)

Hello,

Sorry for delay. Yes, this issue occurs because jQuery javascript library was loaded twice. One instance was load by 'ARI Smart Content', the second instance in your template. You can disable jQuery loading in 'ARI JQuery Loader' plugin settings and load jQuery only in template.
