
Strange code on top of page

Posted by ICARUS - 2010/09/10 11:32

Hi there

I am experiencing a problem with our website and would appreciate your help for one more time.

On the homepage (<http://www.icarus-be.com/>) I see a message on top appearing :

Deprecated: Assigning the return value of new by reference is deprecated in /opt/www/icarus/web/www.icarus-be.com/administrator/components/com_arismartcontent/kernel/Web/class.TaskManager.php(18) : eval()'d code on line 1

Also I had a top menu that now disappeared (Module = Top Drop Down Menu), can this be caused as well by the above message ?

Thanks in advance for helping me out !

Best regards
ROBIN

PS : I've sent an admin login to info@ari-soft.com

Hello,

When we open this link we don't see any error message. Did you do something? Or how we can see this error message?

I've been messing around myself a bit and found that it were the cache settings that caused an error. Disactivating it helped to prevent seeing the message but I feel it is not the best solution.

You already helped me earlier on the top dropdown menu and you got it back alive but now suddenly I cannot find the reason why it stopped working again. As a temporary solution I've put in another dropdown menu (from Ari Soft), but honestly I prefer to go back to the old one because the style was a better fit for the website.

It would be great if you could take a look at the menu problem (but if not I can understand there it is not an ARI soft menu)

Best regards

Robin

Could you temporary activate the menu what you want to use that we can see the issue that we have ability to investigate and fix it?

Hello

Sorry for the late response

I activated the module "Top Drop Down Menu" and a meny should appear under the searchbox but now I only see a grey bar, no menu at all.

Thanks in advance for your help.

Not at all. Ari Smart content is functioning as it is supposed to be.

Just having a menu kind of problem that came up together with an error I've got on top of the homepage, but the error disappeared when I disactivated caching in the settings.

SO just the menu problem is still there.

Cheers

Robin

I am also receiving this message:

"Deprecated: Assigning the return value of new by reference is deprecated in"

I have ARI Smart Content 1.7.5 installed. Can you send me the latest version?

On another note, your website appears to be very slow to load. Have you considered using cache? memcache solution works extremely well for Joomla installs.
