Empty Element
Posted by quantark - 2011/03/29 03:28

Hi. I'm having a problem where an empty menu item appears to be showing up when I mouseover one of my submenus. I don't know what I could have possibly tweaked to cause this to occur. I'll link the modifications I've made to the css file so far:

.yui-skin-sam .bd
background: #000000 !important;
padding-top:17px;
border-style: none !important;

.yuimenubaritemlabel,
.yuimenuitemlabel
{
color: #FFFFFF !important;

.yuimenubaritem-selected,
.yuimenuitem-selected
{
background-image: none !important;
background-color: #3D3D3D !important;
}

.yui-skin-sam ul li a.yuimenubaritemlabel,
.yui-skin-sam .yuimenubarnav .yuimenubaritem,
.yui-skin-sam .yuimenubarnav
{
 border-style: none !important;
}

As you can see, Google should appear right beneath Home, but there is an empty space for some reason, and I would like to delete that empty space. Thanks!

Unfortunately, this website is installed on a local server. It has not yet been published to the web. Is there any alternative we can use?

I have discovered the issue. In my css, I changed the following

.yui-skin-sam .bd
background: #000000 !important;
padding-top:18px;
border-style: none !important;
}
```

to...

.yui-skin-sam
{
padding-top:18px;
}

.yui-skin-sam .bd
```

```
background: #000000 !important;
border-style: none !important;
}
```

We are glad that the problem was resolved.

PS: You sent by email all Joomla! files, not page files as described here.
