
Is it possible to get rid from blinking bullits?

Posted by slv - 2011/02/20 17:33

After several hours of sorcery with CSS it became possible to hide bullets. (I am no professional :cheer:)

For this purpose I used advices of this forum, it looks like this:

```
#ext-gen2 ul li, #ext-gen2 ul li li{position: relative; left: -16px; list-style-type:none;}
```

Is it optimal?

But it has appeared not all.

Whether it is possible to get rid from blinking bullets? It very much irritates. :blush:

Thanks for the good module, I hope for the aid.

Thanks in advance.

=====

Re:Is it possible to get rid from blinking bullits?

Posted by admin - 2011/02/20 19:06

Hello,

Could you provide link to page where we can see the problem?

Regards,
ARI Soft

=====

Re:Is it possible to get rid from blinking bullits?

Posted by slv - 2011/02/20 20:28

Site is now under construction.

Access Deny from all in .htaccess and allow only for developers.

If it will arrange you, I can give temporary access from yours IP. Right now.

=====

Re:Is it possible to get rid from blinking bullits?

Posted by admin - 2011/02/21 08:06

You can send page files. This process is described here.

Regards,
ARI Soft

=====

Re:Is it possible to get rid from blinking bullits?

Posted by slv - 2011/02/21 18:02

I did as you said.

=====

Re:Is it possible to get rid from blinking bullits?

Posted by admin - 2011/02/21 18:12

Replace the following CSS rules:

```
#ext-gen2 ul li,
#ext-gen2 ul li li{position: relative; left: -16px; list-style-type:none;}
```

with the next CSS rules:

```
#main .ux-menu-container UL LI
{
    list-style-type:none;
}
```

```
#col2 .ux-menu-container
{
    margin-left: -16px;
}
```

Regards,
ARI Soft

Re:Is it possible to get rid from blinking bullits?

Posted by slv - 2011/02/21 19:35

After replacing - bullets are not marked, menu bar is through all width but blinking still remain

Re:Is it possible to get rid from blinking bullits?

Posted by admin - 2011/02/21 19:57

Unfortunately we can't see this effect on page files. We can try to help when your site is available online.

Regards,
ARI Soft

Re:Is it possible to get rid from blinking bullits?

Posted by slv - 2011/02/21 20:12

Site is now online... for some time. Address in mail.

Another question - why is arrow on parent menu bar not appear?

Re:Is it possible to get rid from blinking bullits?

Posted by admin - 2011/02/22 09:02

The menu doesn't show arrow because it can't calculate menu items width correctly due to necessary default CSS rules was removed from menu.min.css file. You can add the following CSS rule that fix it:

```
#col2 .ux-menu .ux-menu-item-main
{
width: 200px !important;
}
```

About flickering problem, it seems this is IE specific issue and it can be caused by your custom CSS rules. You can investigate menu styles and HTML layout with help "Developer Tools" in IE 8, press F12 that see this tool.

Regards,
ARI Soft

=====

Re: Is it possible to get rid from blinking bullits?

Posted by slv - 2011/02/22 11:06

Many thanks for the help.
Error has appeared!
Excuse if my own actions on adjustment CSS were incorrect.

I shall investigate blinking bullets ...

=====