
submenu expansion pushes other modules down

Posted by mamaspice - 2011/03/09 11:39

Hello, I've spent a lot of time searching this forum, and I can't seem to find the answer. When my sub menu expands, it pushes the other modules on the page down. I've tried some of the suggestions related to the submenus hiding behind other modules, but that doesn't seem to fix it. I'm running this demo site locally at the moment, so I can't provide a live link. Any thoughts? Thanks so much.

Hello,

We can try to help if you provide page files by email. This process is described here.

Thank you. I will do so after some appointments this morning.

Your customer service is better than many commercial templates. I will be sure to donate and hope others do the same.
