
menu alignment - sub menu problems

Posted by dernix - 2013/08/02 20:15

Hi!

After trying to put the menu to the right of the site www.drveprik-hamburg.de/cms/ I thought I'm done ... but now the sub menu is appearing covering the top menu ... don't know how to fix it.

The other problem is if you go to the site you'd see just one item of the top menu and would see the rest of the menu after clicking on that item.

Would be cool if you could help me out.

Thanks,
Dietmar

=====

Re:menu alignment - sub menu problems

Posted by admin - 2013/08/03 04:57

Hello,

Add the following CSS rule:

```
.ux-menu ul.ux-menu-sub
{
  margin: 0;
}
```

Regards,
ARI Soft

=====

Re:menu alignment - sub menu problems

Posted by dernix - 2013/08/03 07:30

Hi,

that worked out for the first problem, thanks! :)

The second one is still ... if you click on a sub menu item the whole menu changes to show only the sub menu and the above menu item. The whole menu disappears.

Thanks,
Dietmar

=====

Re:menu alignment - sub menu problems

Posted by admin - 2013/08/03 18:00

Set "Show only active sub-menus" parameter to "No".

Regards,
ARI Soft

=====

Re:menu alignment - sub menu problems

Posted by dernix - 2013/08/03 19:25

Yes, I've already done that, thanks!

But now the chosen sub menu won't be seen when activated.
Would be cool if the sub menu could be seen then as orientation for the visiter of the site.

Thanks for your kind support!

Greetz,
Dietmar

=====

Re:menu alignment - sub menu problems

Posted by dernix - 2013/08/11 23:38

I still have that problem with the sub menu not showing permanently the chosen sub menu.

Now there is another problem ... the menu item "Team" has 5 sub menu items ... but only the first of them is shown. It would be great if the other 4 items would show up too, preferably horizontaly.

Thanks,
Dietmar

=====

Re:menu alignment - sub menu problems

Posted by admin - 2013/08/12 04:38

This problem with site template styles. Add the following CSS rule:

```
BODY #breadcrumbs {
    overflow: visible;
}
```

Regards,
ARI Soft

=====

Re:menu alignment - sub menu problems

Posted by dernix - 2013/08/16 06:06

that worked out fine, thank you so much! :)

Greetz,
Dietmar

=====