Menu in Module

Posted by DanielSw2 - 2010/05/24 23:08

---

Hello there,

For our info-panels we want to have an extra menu to navigate through the infopages. So i've bought this one here because it looks good but it doesn't work well and the developers don't have a good forum, they promised to solve the problem but nothing happened and so i've to find an other solution and i want to use the ari ext menu.

I've installed it but it doesn't work how it should. I want that the menu is under the header image, so i've use the module anywhere plugin. It works when i load the module in the toblock and the toblock is invisible. The Subtopics doesn't display.

Here you can see a example: <http://k190-d1.s34.tune-up-it.de/sims3-infos> (user: demo password: demo)

I can send you the adminusername usw. when you need it.

Thank you!

Regards,
Daniel

Hello,

Sorry, but this page doesn't contain 'ARI Ext Menu', maybe you have disabled it?

Hello,

No the module is published and it's under the sims3head image. I've made a picture. <http://www.ari-soft.com/images/fbfiles/images/navi.JPG>

Try now, please, it was a problem with 'Modules Anywhere' plugin because it doesn't include assets which is loaded through standard Joomla! API. We have adjusted 'ARI Ext Menu' and add new parameter which helps indicate how to load assets, through Joomla! API or included it inline.

Oh yeah now it works, thank you:)
But not all the suptopics are display and between the menu module and the content is much space. Is it possible to reduce the free space and that the suptopics overlapping the content?

Not all submenu items is visible due to your template styles, you can add the following CSS rules that fix this:

```
BODY DIV#maintop,
BODY #maintop .maintopbox,
BODY #maintop .maintopbox div.mod-blank {
overflow: visible;
}

Regarding extra space, it isn't 'ARI Ext Menu' issue. Check that mod_custom module with 'ARI Ext Menu' doesn't contain extra space.

Sorry, but we don't see CSS rules which we provided on your site. layout.css file doesn't contain it. We added these CSS rules to template.css file on your site this morning, but it seems someone has deleted it. Add the following CSS rules and everything should work fine:

```
BODY DIV#main-shift
BODY DIV#maintop,
BODY #maintop .maintopbox,
BODY #maintop .maintopbox div.mod-blank {
overflow: visible;
```

After you add this code, check that CSS file really contains it. If you add these code to layout.css file, load http://k190-d1.s34.tune-up-it.de/templates/yoo\_phoenix/css/layout.css file into a browser and check that it contains necessary code.

You can place the following code into 'CSS Styles' parameter in module settings for changing font color:

BODY .ux-menu A
{
    color: red; /* place necessary color */
}
```

oh cool now it works, what have you done?
When i want to change the color of the menu, wich files i have to replace?

Re:Menu in Module

It was a bug in the module when inline styles is used. What files you want to replace? You want to add modifications for all 'ARI Ext Menu' instances? In this case, you can add necessary styles to `/modules/mod_ariextmenu/mod_ariextmenu/js/css/menu.min.css` file.

Type the following code in 'CSS Styles' parameter for this module instance:

```
BODY #{$id} a.ux-menu-link-last
{
width: 217px;
}
```

```
BODY #{$id} .ux-menu-sub a.ux-menu-link-last
{
width: auto;
}
```

Hey,

we have a new template without any custom javascript.
Now the submenus doesn't appears but I've added the code to the layout.css.
Now I need a new code.
Could you help me?

Hello,

It sounds stange because a template should contain the following code:

This code is required that load all necessary javascript and CSS files which are included through Joomla! API. It a template creator want to exclude loading of MooTools javascript library, it's incorrect way. You can read here how to remove MooTools library.

Yeah the lightbox is deleted and the module works.
But the Menu doesn't work, when I add more space in the module then it slides out. See here:

This problem with template CSS styles. Add the following CSS rules to template CSS file that fix it:

#main #main-shift
{
  overflow: visible;
}
```

```
#main-shift div#maintop
{
  position: relative;
  z-index: 2;
  overflow: visible;
}
```

```
#mainmiddle
{
```

---

```
z-index: 1;
}
```
