
Submenu behind main content in IE

Posted by rhubbs - 2013/11/11 14:44

Hello,

I've read through several of the other forum pages and tried the fixes you suggested. Nothing has worked for me.

www.houstonacfe.org in IE, the Submenu appears behind the main content. In Chrome and FF, everything looks fine.

Could you please take a look and let me know what special CSS adjustments that I need to make to get this submenu up above the content?

Thank you so much,
Ryan

Hello,

What IE version do you use?

We can't reproduce the problem. Could you send a screenshot where we can see it?

DOH! I think I found the issue. Compatibility view was left on for this page. Once I turned it off, everything displays appropriately now. Sorry for any confusion.

Thanks,
Ryan
