
First item of secondary menu is always current

Posted by erichf - 2014/03/24 17:52

I've got a menu similar to the following:

Vegetables

--Potato

--Tomato

--Carrot

Fruit

--Apple

--Cherry

--Plum

The menu style sheet has the menu text as orange except when it is in hover state or current.

If I click Vegetables, that text turns white.

If I click Potato, that text turns white and Vegetables stays white as expected.

If I then click Carrot, Carrot turns white but Potato stays white as does Vegetables.

When I look at the HTML for the page, both Carrot Potato have a class of current even though Carrot is the actually current page.

If I change the settings in the module to "Highlight current menu item" to No, then neither item is highlighted as expected.

How do I get it to only highlight the current item?

Thanks

Hello,

Send a link to a page where we can see the problem.

Unfortunately, it's only on an internal server right now.

I've attached a screen shot and copied the code from the menu part of the site below. From the code, you can see that both ext-gen19 and ext-gen13 have class of current appended to them.

We can investigate the problem if you provide a link to a page where we can see it.

Could you provide a temporary access to your J! backend by email so we can investigate menu structure?

I've sent an e-mail several days ago. Any response?

Hello,

The problem occurs because your parent items are aliases of child menu items. For example "Cottage" is alias for "History". Create alias for parent menu items instead of child menu items.
