In another topic I saw above CSS rule. I want to have my menu transparent as well, but I cannot manage it. I add the rule in the module (in the additional CSS styles) as well as in the menu.min.css. Both doesn't work.

What am I doing wrong?

My development website is on <http://j30.eendrachtuden.nl/>

Hello,

The page doesn't contain "ARI Ext Menu" module.

That's the WWW.eendrachtuden.nl and not J30.eendrachtuden.nl;
But till your answer, I will put the live site online.

Add the following CSS rule:

```
.ux-menu>LI>A{background: transparent none !important;border-style:none!important;}
```

That's it, thanks!
However.... it's only for "level 1" menu items and not for sub-items. Do you have a clue for that?

Use the following CSS rule:

```
.ux-menu LI A{background: transparent none !important;border-style:none!important;}
```

Super! Thanks for all your help.
I have only one question left: Is it possible for the "current" (sub-)menu-item to underline in black (like "HOME" in this image)? <http://www.ari-soft.com/images/fbfiles/images/Knipfel.PNG>

Sorry, didn't realize you needed it.
Now it's available again.

Add the following CSS rule:

```
.ux-menu-sub LI {border-bottom:1px solid black !important;}
```

Thanks again, but the result is not what I mean.
I was looking for a solution to underline only the current item and not all items.

You can read about menu HTML layout and CSS classes is here. It can be used to create custom CSS rules and customise the menu.
