
Menu appearance

Posted by Frost - 2010/09/01 16:18

Well I've been reading through the forums looking for answers to my questions and although I have found some css changes I wanted, I haven't found them all.

I'd like the change the width of the menu and the look of the parent menu to match the attached img. Currently the parent menu is the default install width and appearance.

Please use the credentials I emailed previously to access the site so you can see what it currently looks like. I would do some of this css myself if there was documentation available to identify the areas that need to be modified. I noticed that in other posts where you show required changes, you add new css rules instead of editing the existing css styles. Is there a reason for that?

Thanks for the help with this, it's much appreciated.

I'd like it to look like:

<http://www.ari-soft.com/images/fbfiles/images/menu1-97e3c672c2986b7dc7ea40ef5b23bbd9.jpg>

=====

Re:Menu appearance

Posted by admin - 2010/09/02 06:57

Try to use the following CSS rule:

```
.ux-menu-container LI.ux-menu-item-main
{
    width: 12%;
}
```

Regards,
ARI Soft

=====