Move entire menu to the left

Posted by markem - 2010/10/09 04:58

I'm using Joomla-1.5 rhuk-milkyway template.
I have added ARI EXT Menu to the breadcrumb area and I need to move the entire horizantal form of this menu to the left a few pixels.
I have looked through the forum and experimented with the CSS code to center the entire menu but notheing I'v tried has any effect on the menus position in the breadcrumb area.

The Link is http://www.iwidgit.com
When the page opens you will see the ARI EXT menu in the breadcrumb area of the page.
This topic states "Move the entire menu to the left, but as you will see I actually want to move it to the right about 10px and also up to the top just below the banner.
Basically I want to have the freedom to move the entire menu around in the breadcrumb area or in any position I put it.
Another problem I had was making the banner smaller in height as it is displayed now. The arrow in drop down menu items covers the right portion of text on the button.
Regards\Thanks for Taking a look/

Hello,

Sorry, but it seems 'ARI Ext Menu' isn't used on your site.

Wow
You must be looking at the wrong link, the only menu I have on my page is ARI EXT Menu.
The Links in the menu are:
DOSL Explorer User Guide
SPMC
DOSL_Explorer
NASA Portal
and a drop down menu: JPL Portal

Please try the link http://www.iwidgit.com again. Notice it's iwidgit not iwidget

Hello,

You can use the following CSS rule that shift menu:

#pathway .ux-menu-container
{
  left: 6px;

Thanks for your reply
I tried the CSS code you suggested with 6px and then 20px but the menu bar did not change position.

Could you provide temporary access to your Joomla! backend that we can try to investigat this issue and provide a solution? It seems this problem occurs only in IE browser.
