
In IE the submenu items just disappear

Posted by volandus - 2010/11/14 18:01

Dear All,

here (<http://www.priorum.ru/>) I tried to make a three level menu where the main level is Joomla default menu, and the other two are made with ARI Ext. They all are in the same USER3 position, the template is made with Artisteer.

With the support of this forum members, I have managed to exclude space between menus (that ones, vertically). I slightly changed the way it looks, so generally now I feel it is okay.

However, in IE I noticed strange thing - the submenu items while being hovered just disappear in a second or two so I have no chance to click any sublevel menu but first or second. In Firefox and Chrome everything is perfect.

I have attached css for the menu as well as module settings. I would be extremely grateful for helping me resolve IE issue.

Please be informed that I am not a code-friendly person :) I am an ordinary person who loves Joomla and is limited to the knowledge about components and modules only, and always afraid of php and the like. But I am trying to cope with my fear ;)

Thank you a lot in advance! <http://www.ari-soft.com/images/fbfiles/files/menumin.txt> <http://www.ari-soft.com/images/fbfiles/images/ariext-3e5bcd5e4f68943568e60d4e2cd70bd.jpg>

=====