
Problem with home page visualization

Posted by giovanni - 2011/08/22 20:20

Dear sirs,

I've just installed Ari slider and I've positioned the module in home page.

When I publish the module the first page loses the normal width and there is a little mess on user1 position.

Could you please be so kind have a look to understand what is wrong.

Now the module is suspended just to show you normal view of home page. Then try to publish it and see what happens.

Test site:

***** & *****.

images/banners is the path

dimensions are about 640 x 455 max

Thanks, GiN,

Let me know if you want the FTP details.

I can see it but the location is wrong. I need to have something like the attached image.

Images size are in average 650x450 but normally they are compatible with width.

Thanks
Giovanni

Sorry I wrote an e-mail for mistake.

Excuse me.

I've tried using IE8 e Mozilla Firefox but the result is the same.

Are you able to see it correctly ? Wich could be the problem ?

It works fine in FireFox 3. In any case this problem with HTML layout and styles of site template. We can recommend to contact site template developers that they fix the problem.
