Using sexy lightbox with vm login module
Posted by Gg7string - 2011/12/16 20:50

_____

I just purchased the pop-up component for use with the virtuemart login module. It works great and does what I need it to do. However is a way to disable the feature that displays the username and logout button in the pop up after successful login?

It has to be simple, do I need to redirect the person to another page?

Thanks in advance

Hello,

The extension shows selected module content. It requires to update login module if necessary add a redirect. If necessary we can help to do it if you provide temporary access to your J! backend by email and specify where we can see login module in the lightbox.
