Lightbox as component?

Been messing around with lightbox lite.

Just trying to decide whether to fork out the $12...

In the paid version....

Can I say have a way to associate a module (like my signal login module) to your popup lightbox instead of one of my predefined positions. This would allow be to get a menu item to "popup" a light box

Or Alternatively it is has a component and you associate an an article then I can embed the module in that article.

Just need a way for a menu item to put content a light box directly

Hello,

"ARI Sexy Lightbox" package contains "System - ARI Sexy Lightbox Anywhere" plugin which provides ability to use lightbox in any content, it also provides possibility to load "ARI Sexy Lightbox" module in any content. If you need separate page with sexy lightbox, you can create new article and load "ARI Sexy Lightbox" module with "System - ARI Sexy Lightbox Anywhere" plugin in this article or embed lightbox directly with help this plugin and then associate menu item with this article.

unfortunately you still didn't answer my question. I used the plugin lite. I understand that I can put it in any content. I understand you have a module in the paid version This was not my question.

Since the lightbox is NOT a position in my index.php file I can't for example have a menu choice actuate your module in lightbox popup.

So, just give a yes or no to this question. Can I assign a menu item to an article, any article (com_article) and have that article appear in a popup lightbox instead of my default jdoc component position. Yes or no.

Thanks

If you want to open some menu items in lightbox, potentially it can be done with "System - ARI Sexy Links" plugin from "ARI Sexy Lightbox" package. "ARI Sexy Lightbox Lite" doesn't provide this ability.

Hmmm...."potentially". Does that mean yes but I have to do a bunch of things myself? Can you outline what I would have to do?

We said "potentially" because we don't know what menu module you use. If we can see it, we can say exactly if it can do it or not.

have tried out yours, but am also using customenu. In either case I have a class for each item. I can control the css as I please. So what's the hitch?

"ARI Sexy Links" plugin helps to load menu item into the lightbox by "Itemid" parameter (this is menu item ID) or by unique CSS class.
