Quiz progresses to next question before user can s

_____

I've just installed ARi Lite as a test before going to the full version.
It has all worked well in the back end and I have set up a quiz.
However, when the page is displayed in the front end, no matter what I do about the time settings for either the entire quiz or for each question, the quiz progresses to the next question before the user can select an answer.
Also, if the user does manage to select an answer, the 'save' button is automatically triggered.
In all cases, the user gets a score of zero on the results page.
How can I fix this? You can see the quiz at

Thanks!

Just figured it out. I have to set the time in the questtion category as well as in the quiz. I had the time set to 2, which was super fast
