
AlphaUserPoints with ARI Quiz

Posted by e.bentley - 2011/07/07 14:26

I just updated to ARI Quiz from Quiz Lite. I'm trying to add AlphaUserPoints once someone finish taking quiz. Before I had to add a link that would click and the points would be added, but I would like for the points to be added without them clicking a link. Can anyone help me?

Hello,

Do you use "ARI Quiz Alpha User Points" plugin? It adds alpha points automatically when a user completes a quiz. The plugin can be found here, see "F.A.Q." tab.

Yes I tried that, but I can't figure out how to set a the points to a fixed number (like 10 points for each quiz taken no matter what there score is).
Can that be done and if so how.

Set "Fixed Score" parameter to "Yes" and "Score" parameter to 10 in plugin settings.

Thanks very much. Now I have one more issue. As I go through the quiz it locks up and says "Loading... Please wait " and when I click save to go to the next question nothing happens unless I refresh the page or keep clicking on the save button. I now this isn't normal, but have other people had this issue?

I originally had quizlite on my system and updated to ARI Quiz before I uninstalled quizlite, could that be the problem if so what can I do to correct it?

What version of "ARI Quiz" you use? The problem occurs in different browsers or only in specific browser (for example in IE browser)? Is "Parse plugin tags" option enabled in quiz settings?

The version of the ARI Quiz is 2.9.10

Here's a link to the quiz on the site

username = test

password = test

Loading... Please wait

I'm using ARI Quiz version 2.9.10 and having issues with the questions loading. The "Loading... Please wait" wording won't go away and you have to click the save button several times of reload the page before it will advance to past question 2. Here's a link to the site page.

Username and password are both: test

I've done a search in the forum for this same issue and came up with what I believe to be a fix, but not sure if the fix is for everyone whose having the same issue. Purge the Database. Before I loaded ARI Quiz I had Quizlite, I also installed ARI Quiz over Quizlite before deleting Quizlite. Not sure if that had anything to do with it or not, but this is the SQL query I found. If I run this on my database would it purge my database of the things it don't need?
