I putted this question several times, first by email and then here in the forum. Never responded.

Today I see, with surprise, that you have answered when asked by another user.

Thanks anyway for the answer, but I get the impression that if this other user didn't put the same question as mine, you would not answer.

Is there any problem with my account?

Best regards.

Rmam.

It's been three weeks since this thread. Is there any new developments?
