How to NOT store quiz results in backend
Posted by Bambino - 2009/07/22 11:14

Hi,

Do you know how I can avoid storing all the quiz results in the backend.

I have about 5000 tests made, and everyday about 100 new test results are added. I would like to know if there is a possibility to not store the quiz results.

Thanks
Alban

Hello,

The component doesn't support this ability, ARI Quiz stores all results in database. We can offer several solution for resolving this problem:

1) You can delete unnecessary results from the component backend.

2) We can provide SQL query which will delete old results and you can it as task in cron.

3) You can submit feature request for this possibility and we'll implement it in one of the future releases.

4) You can order custom development of this feature, if you need it urgently.

Thanks for the reply.

I'll do with 1) and 3) for now. How do I request a feature for this possibility ?
