
Check how a question replied during a quiz

Posted by Omid - 2015/07/03 16:21

Hi there,

I want to do some custom action in case the user answers a question correctly. Is there a variable to check (while the quiz is running) to see whether a specific question has been replied correctly or not?

Thanks

I am just evaluating several products to see if they meet my requirements, so I have not purchased "ARI Quiz" yet, though it is the most suitable product I've tested by now.

Could you describe your needs in more details? Do you want to call a custom PHP code immediately after a user answer or at the end of a quiz? or you need something another?

That's right, immediately after the user answer I want to do a custom action, for example to terminate the quiz in case of two successive wrong answers or displaying a custom message and so on.

Thanks for your time.

It is possible to subscribe to quiz events (like save questions, start a quiz and etc., for example it is possible to create a Joomla! system plugin) and execute custom PHP code. It is possible to check user answer (correct or not) if call an appropriate method for question instance.
