So I clicked "Rules" on the AlphaUserPoints control panel and tried the plugins button there, which asked for an xml file. I then unzipped your "plgup_ariquizuppoints.zip" and tried to install the unzipped plgup_ariquizuppoints.xml file.

Column count doesn't match value count at row 1 SQL=INSERT INTO z89hl_alpha_userpoints_rules VALUES (",'ARI Quiz points', 'Assign points when a user completes a quiz', 'com_ariquiz', 'plgaup_ariquizupoints', '1', 'com_ariquiz', "", '0', '0', '0', '0000-00-00 00:00:00', "", "", "", '0', '0', '0', '0', '1', '0', "", '0', "", '0', '0', "", "", '0', '0', '0', '0', '0')".

It seems this is a bug in AlphaUserPoints v. 2.0.2. "displayactivity" column was added to #__alpha_userpoints_rules DB table, but _loadPluginElements method in /administrator/components/com_alphauserpoints/models/plugins.php file was not updated.

After all I paid for ARI Quiz specifically to use that plugin.

Thank you.

Thank you for sending me the php-file. But the problem isnt'd solved.

I think my problem is different from the ealier responder. (so maybe I dind'n had to ask for the php-files. sorry)

Problem:

When I try to install the plugin (plgup_ariquiz...) in alphauserpoints - rules - plugin, then I got the next warning:
JFolder::create: Infinite loop detected. Warning: Failed to move file!
error: Error on upload file. Error on extraction archive

Please, can you have a look at this. Thank you. Richard

It looks like a problem with folder permissions for folder where AlphaUserPoints rules are installed or with AlphaUserPoints extension.

I think you're right. I tried to install the happy-birthday plugin in Alpha user points and got the same problem. Sorry for my question at this place. I'll have a look at the forum from alphauserpoints.
thank you for your quick answers.

I've looked at the forum of alphauserpoints. It seems that the importsystem of plugins has changed.

<http://www.alphaplug.com/index.php/forum/42-alphauserpoints-19x-and-20x/26089-202-cant-import-new-rules.html?limit=6&start=6>

In the last reaction it says that only the second way of implementation is possible. That is by autodetection. (see manual page 9):

Second method with auto-detect xml file at the root of frontend component:

Click on the button "Auto-detect plugins" in the control panel of AlphaUserPoints after installation of third component, plugin or module.

Check regularly or periodically by clicking on this button.

Problem: Alphauserpoint doesn't autodetect the ariquiz-plugin.
