
Top Missed Questions Report

We are doing mass testing with our employees and the component works perfectly. The only issue we're having trouble with is collecting the information for the most missed questions on a quiz. Right now we're having to compile the results of each quiz and manually find which questions were most frequently answered incorrectly. Is there some way to run a report to gather this information quickly? For our purposes, we don't necessarily need to "grade" each quiz, but we are most interested in the questions that our employee are continuously having trouble with. It would be great to have a report such as "top 5 missed questions" or something to that effect...

If a report is not possible right away, is there some way to query this information against the database...some other way besides having to go through all the individual quiz results?

Thank you for your help!

Hello,

Currently the extension doesn't support ability to show these statistics.
