

---

Backend results template question

Posted by webjive - 2010/08/31 19:48

---

Where is the Results template stored?

We have a client we purchased ARI QUIZ for and their tests have 100-300 questions in them and they want a condensed version for printing the results from the backend. <http://www.ari-soft.com/images/fbfiles/images/codanotes.png>

=====

Re:Backend results template question

Posted by admin - 2010/08/31 22:05

---

Hello,

'Text templates' is used into 'Preview template' drop-down, but 'Text templates' doesn't provide ability to show details statistics for each question in a quiz. Template for results data grid is located into javascript file. You can export quizzes results to one of supported format and then print it.

Regards,
ARI Soft

=====

Re:Backend results template question

Posted by webjive - 2010/09/02 14:59

---

That's the problem, they want to print/export each question for results with a right/wrong so they can type that into an excel spreadsheet for grading. This excel grading sheet has a lot of formulas in it which allows them to do placement testing and other results.

So, there is NO way to export what your seeing in my attached image

OR

A template for me to edit (which is what I would like to do) to shorten what you have?

Thx.

=====

Re:Backend results template question

Posted by admin - 2010/09/03 09:56

---

Could you provide sample of CSV file what you need? We can provide unobfuscated files which contains code for generating data for import.

Regards,
ARI Soft

=====