Update it to v. 1.3.0. If you can't do it via extension's installer then unzip com_ariquiz.zip archive and find plg_system_ariquizanywhere.zip archive in backend/install/addons folder.

I also seem to have this problem, with the whole of the backend and front end of my site broken.

How can I tell which version of the plugin I installed and where do I get the correct version?

OK, I managed to find the files in the component zip file and have access to my site again.

However, with the Anywhere plugin enabled, the home page of my site no longer works with this error:

0 - strpos(): Argument #1 ($haystack) must be of type string, array given

But other pages in the site do work.

Can you help me find out what's wrong. When I disable your plugin, the site home page is fine.

Many thanks
Leila
