
Quiz for Zoo, have questions

Posted by mineee - 2010/10/27 21:05

Hello,

In our zoo, we're planning to organize a contest for the students. We're thinking about purchasing your product, but we want to make sure if it may fulfil our needs.

We're going to make this contest with several quizzes, only registered users will be able to answer. My first question:

-Will we be able to get the total score for each user, does it takes an accrued sum?

Our visitors come from 3 main cities and we'll announce 1st-2nd-3rd students for each city.

-We're also using Jomsocial, can we regroup participants according to these 3 cities and evaluate them within the groups? Or do we need some other component for this?

Thats all for now,

Thanks in advance

Hello,

Thank you for your interest in our product. Regarding your questions:

1. Currently we have module which can display accumulated user results on frontend, but we can add new page with statistics by user on the component backend.

2. It can be done as custom development.

ARI Soft

Thank you very much for your reply, can you make these configurations for us? Do we need to pay a supplement for this?

Kind regards,

The first requirement we can do for free, the second we can do as custom development and it'll require additional fee.

Hello,

We may think about having both. So, let me make it clear:

-While registering, the students will tell us their city. We need to see the results separately for each 3 cities. Please tell us which component we should use to register to the site, because you'll integrate these two components.

-We'll give:

-One award to First 10 students

-Other award to following 20 students

-Another award to following 50 students.

So at each city's result page, we'll need to see these groups, if possible, easily.

-Last question, we'll try to avoid duplicated accounts, for this we're going to ask the identity number from each student while registering. Is it possible to create a field which will warn us when duplicated?

And for all these custom developments, can you please quote?

We remind that, our organisation is a Zoo and non-profit-making.

You can visit our website: www.farukyalcinzoo.com

Thank you very much.
