Load Position Doesn't Work

Hello, I love this module!

However, I need to include it inside another module for layout purposes, and it does not seem to work when it is included.

At first I tried the Modules Anywhere plugin which normally has no problem showing any modules inside other modules.

When that didn't work I thought it could be a problem with the Modules Anywhere plugin, so then I just tried the {loadposition} feature built in to Joomla, and that did not work either.

It seems like the Javascript just does not get loaded when it is included this way. The articles load into the module position, but they show all the articles in a list format, and do not slide.

Do you know why this is happening, and is there anything I can do about it ?

Thanks!

Hello,

Where we can see the problem?

<http://new.goldcodirect.com>

Bottom left under "Featured Coins"

Test 1, Test 2, and Test 3 are all separate articles.

I have it set to the "Dotted" theme, so the 1,2,3 links shouldn't be there either.

It has to be a Javascript conflict, or it not loading.

It seems extension which you use to load the module, doesn't load CSS and Javascript files.

Oh, and it only doesn't work if it is included inside another module.

If I assign Easy Slider to the same module position, it works fine.

I just really need to include it inside a module to get the kind of layout I am trying to looking for.

Thanks for your help!

Try to use "Module Plant" plugin. It seems it is suitable for your needs.

Could you tell me which Javascript and CSS files need to be loaded for the "Dotted" theme?

I will just manually add them to the header of my main template file to fix the problem.

Thanks!

Trying "Module Plant" now, thanks!

If that doesn't work I will just have to manually include the JS & CSS files in the header of my template file.

Module Plant works perfectly!

Thanks so much!!

If only other companies provided support as good as yours.

Glad I bought 2 of your products today.

Have a great day!
