
accents for mac users

Posted by Francisd - 2011/09/10 08:10

Hi

I want to imports data with accents (french)

What format should I use to make it readable by all systems

(I work on mac with bbedit)

Hello,

Sorry, but could you described in more details what do you want to do? Do you have a CSV file which is saved in specific encoding and want to show it with help "ARI Data Tables"?

I want to use tables whith ara data tables.

The names in the tables have accents (Ð¹,Ð°,Ð,))

I save the cvs file in utf8. The table opens but the accented letters get wrong.

Thanks for your purpose but it's ok for me I find the good way for encoding in UTF8

But now I've another problem. My csv files (tableau.csv) contains 900 lines and when I use arijdatatable, I've a blank page when I use a file with 227 lines (tableau2.csv) I've an error message :

DataTables warning: Unexpected number of TD elements. Expected 224 and got 227. DataTables does not support rowspan / colspan in the table body, and there must be one cell for each row/column combination.

This the link : <http://atelier-du-moniteur.com/tableau.html>

This my code in my article :

{arijdatatable bPaginate="true"}
{aricsvtable file="tableau.csv"}{/aricsvtable}
{/arijdatatable}

Thank you for your help
JP

About the first problem, try to install PHP Settings plugin and increase memory_limit PHP parameter.

About the second problem, does it currently appear on provided page?

I Think that I'd solve my problem. In fact a comma wasn't in a good place. I'd a confusion between TH ans TD
Now all is good

Thank's for your help
