Hi,
I have searched thru forum to find answer, but i havent managed to do get that.
So, my problem is,
I have csv file where each row have details about certain user.
I want to bring each row to different users profile at Community builder. Or other method is to create search field for users, they type their username and get their own info (own row) from my csv file.
Is this possible?

Hello,

The extension doesn't support described ability for CSV data, but it is possible to do it for SQL data. "ARI Data Tables" supports ability to use request variables in SQL queries.
