

---

Various points re datatables vs smartcontent

Posted by domc - 2011/09/25 09:15

---

I've downloaded this product as I've taken over running a website that I've migrated temporarily to my local drive - so I can investigate upgrading from Joomla 1.5 to 1.6 or 1.7.

I was getting a 'arijtablesorter sorting=false paging=false' error and thought that this was due to a license problem with datatables - but I now realise the original set up must have been done using the ari-smart content - not the datatables module.

I was considering either having to buy the ari-smart content (but don't like the fact that this is licensed per site and so I guess you need to get it twice just to develop on your local computer & I wasn't sure that this was also J1.6 or 1.7 compatible.

So I was thinking with the datatables interface it's probably not too much work to set up new equivalent tables, but the module seems designed around setting up one table - and the current site uses it 3 times to display 3 different tables. I'm sure this wouldn't be true but how would you set up 3 different tables or can you reload the module 3 times.

Would your advice be to stick with the datatables, or go with the ari smart content?

Cheers, Domc

=====

Re:Various points re datatables vs smartcontent

Posted by admin - 2011/09/28 10:03

---

Hello,

Sorry for the delay. "ARI Smart Content" v. 1.8.0 is compatible with J! 1.6 and 1.7 and can be used on any number of sites.

Regards,
ARI Soft

=====