
Automatic Searching

Posted by Kilokaai - 2011/12/06 02:23

When I display tables for users who log in I want to just take their username which is a 6-digit number and show only results with that ID instead of showing the entire database by default.

I am not sure how to limit the users to only their results from the table instead of just creating a searchable table. I am using CSV tables.

Any help is appreciated!

Thanks,
Kilo

Hello,

Do you show data from a database? If yes, could you provide a SQL query which is used in a module and structures of table(s) which is used in this SQL query. About 6-digit number, where this number is stored?
